Angel medina

My pc is running slow my first theory is that there's to much background application in order to test that theory i will have to use task manager the theory is correct because task manager says that some application use too much CPU. Task manager says that google chrome and Microsoft world use most of the CPU the solution will be to end task for these two application i test to make sure the pc is working for future refence a slow pc can be fixed by ending task